Conference Benefits

- Place NSE applicants for 2010-2011 exchanges.
- Learn how to improve office management using emerging technologies.
- Participate in presentations and discussion on various aspects of exchange administration, best practices, and professional development.
- Share ideas and insights regarding NSE campus program management.
- Learn about member colleges and universities.

Why Conference Attendance is Required

The majority of NSE placements are made at this conference. As a condition of NSE membership, each member campus must be represented in person at the conference in order to conduct its placement activity relative to incoming and outgoing exchange decisions. Placement decisions are managed through a web-based system which is only accessible by the campus on site at the conference. In-person attendance is important for:

- discussing individual student situations (your own outgoing as well as obtaining additional information on potential incoming students);
- making acceptance decisions from among all students requesting exchange at your campus; and
- distributing and/or accepting application, housing, registration, or other enrollment materials requiring timely completion and return by students who have been placed.
